A NOTE FROM THE PRODUCING ARTISTIC DIRECTOR

Welcome to Civic Theatre's 93rd season- IGNITE! This theme encompasses all the passion and energy our staff and volunteers are feeling about our very ambitious line-up of exciting shows this season! Every year we try and offer a broad variety of offerings to give our audiences a smorgasbord of high-quality theatre to enjoy. And this year is no exception.

We kick off the season with madcap hilarity and mystery as we present one of the most produced plays currently circulating through community and regional theaters. CLUE! And we continue the comedic ride as we blend MainStage and Civic Youth actors in the incredibly popular musical, SCHOOL OF ROCK. What do both these selections have in common? They are both based off high grossing movies; one from 1985 and the other from 2003. I promise you the live versions are much more fun!

But it's not all fun and games (get it?) for this season. Well, maybe not games but still lots of fun. HOLIDAY CABARET is an entirely new venture here at Civic that is sure to warm your heart and holiday spirit. Although this type of holiday show is a first for Civic, I predict it won't be the last.

Everyone knows we have a plethora of extremely talented youth in our community and our Civic Youth Theatre program proudly provides a variety of productions to show off that talent! January's show, THE AMAZING MAURICE AND HIS EDUCATED RODENTS, will feature a wide age range of youth performers stretching their acting muscles portraying characters that are quite fantastical. Then, moving from fantasy to reality, our teens will have an opportunity to take the stage in our March production of ALMOST, MAINE or our April offering of MACBETH, which is an adaptation of the Bard's original script featuring 7 teenage, female-identifying actors portraying all the roles. Don't forget, all our youth shows can be selected in your flex-pass purchase!

Smack-dab in the middle of February, you will find another MainStage selection opening Valentine's Day weekend. Stressing over what to give that special someone for a valentine? Nothing says love and romance more than a ticket to PSYCHO BEACH PARTY! But seriously, who doesn't love a beach party in February?! And once the party is over, we fast track to May for our final MainStage show - URINETOWN: THE MUSICAL. Don't let the title mislead you, the content is both hilarious and provocative, with this satirical comedy extending far beyond toilet humor.

Beyond the season selections, you can also enjoy the Tour of Terror Walking Tour October 25th-26th, a variety of staged readings in the spring, Civic After Dark pop-up performances, OSFA improv shows almost every month, our Annual Season Reveal show April 12th, and the 13th Annual Short Play Festival June 27th -29th!

Depending on what show you are currently attending, I hope you are either looking forward to the above selections or remembering them fondly. This is a spectacular season that I am extremely proud and grateful to present. Much of that gratitude goes to our sponsors and donors who invest in Civic Theatre because they believe that the arts are an important part of a thriving community. Their generosity and support keep our lights on and the shows going. And tons of gratitude goes to you, our patrons. Thank you for purchasing your ticket to this performance. You are the reason we do what we do. You are the reason Civic is here to usher in our 93rd season- IGNITE!

Enjoy the show.

Tribute to John Christopher Jones and Civic Theatre of Greater Lafayette

Jim and Pat Ross remember when ALCOA agreed to underwrite a three-year program that would bring a number of rising young performing artists to the Lafayette area for six weeks a year.

The second performer to arrive in Lafayette, Indiana, was a young actor named John Christopher Jones, and the sponsor was Civic Theatre. Chris delighted many audiences with his theatrical ability. After his time in Lafayette, Chris returned to New York City and continued to build a career acting and directing on Broadway, off-Broadway, in video, and film. Christopher was a regular on "On Our Own" and "The Popcorn Kid." Movies include Moonstruck, Awakenings, and Desperate Hours. Christopher later developed Parkinson's disease, which has not kept him from performing and directing.

In what may be his greatest one-time performance, Chris and Dan Moran, both suffering from Parkinson's, star in the documentary "Me to Play." It is a performance of Beckett's End Game while also showing the daily challenge of dealing with Parkinson's Disease.

Place

Various locales in Almost, Maine, a small town in far Northern Maine that isn't actually a town and that doesn't quite exist.

Time

Not too long ago—or maybe a long time ago—on a cold, clear, moonless, slightly surreal Friday night in the middle of the deepest part of a Northern Maine winter.

“...the sentimental person thinks things will last—the romantic person has a desperate confidence that they won’t.” - F. Scott Fitzgerald

Almost, Maine is for romantics—not sentimentalists.

A NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR

Almost, Maine is a play that I love everything about. I love the surreal setting, I love the complicated but honest characters, I love the whimsy and heartache that coincide. I love the way the lines are written, the way the silences are written, even the way the stage directions are written. I love the many notes that the playwright, John Cariani, includes for the directors and actors alike, and the many revisions of the play he has published to, as he says, “keep it alive.” But most of all, I love that this play is about ordinary people and their relationships, and what happens when just a little bit of magic intervenes.

As a Hoosier, I am all-too familiar with the lack of attention that mainstream art gives to rural Americans. This play is set, not along the gorgeous Maine coastline, but in the middle of the state where farmers, maintenance workers, and hockey players live. These people are hard-working, resilient, and kind, and they remind me over and over of the Midwesterners that I know and love. I love that this play shines a bit of a spotlight on them.

The last thing I want to say is how continually impressed I am by the youth in our community. These young actors have worked incredibly hard studying these scenes over the past several weeks, and they have such talent to showcase. Our production team is also filled with current or recently graduated youth, including set design by the incredible Sadie Alge, light design by the talented Rivers R. Blue, and stage management by the dedicated Sawyer Mariga. My stellar assistant director on this production, Liam Kelley, is also a product of the Civic Youth program, and watching him shine in this role has been one of the highlights of working on this show. Investing in our youth will always, always, always be worth it, and I am so grateful that I can play a small part in making that happen here at Civic Theatre.

-TJ Rosa
Director

She has previously been in Matilda The Musical Jr. (Eric) and Footloose The Musical Jr. (Jeter), and Godspell Jr. (Disciple) all at the Civic Theatre. She's excited to be back at Civic but on the other side of the stage. She is thankful to her director, cast, and crew for this new opportunity to see the tech side of things and her parents' unconditional support!

EM BOGAN (Sound Board Operator) has worked on many shows with Civic and outside of Civic! She has worked on A Christmas Story, Footloose, Godspell, Descendants, and the past Christmas Cabaret! She also worked on Percy Jackson the past summer with Acorn and other various theatre projects. She is very grateful for the continuous opportunities and encouragement Civic Theatre has given her!
